PRINCIPLES OF POLITICAL ECONOMY. Or the Laws of the Formation of National Wealth, U. S. troops interfered. Several on both sides Developed by means of the Christian Law of Government; being the substance of a case delivered to the Hand-loom

BY WILLIAM ATKINSON. WITH AN INTRODUCTION, Treating of the present state of the Science of Political Economy, and the Adaptation of its Principles to the Condition of our own Country and the upbuilding of its Prosperity.

By Horace Greeley.

The work of Mr. ATENSON is one of the most instru tive and admirable that has yet appeared on the important and difficult subject of Political Economy—difficult, not so much in its essence or in the nature of its laws as in the application of those laws to the dissimilar, complicated, varymuch in its essence of the desimilar, complicated, varying circumstances of different nations and periods. The laws educed by Mr. Atkinson are so just, so clear, so vital, and yet so strangely overlooked by those who arrogate to themselves the tile of the Political Economics in our day, and who resolve all Folitical Economic Science into doing nothing—of whose miverse Somaus is God—and who elevate the maxim of the counter, 'Bay where you can cheapest' to the summit of attainable wisdom and statesmanship. In their eyes the cheapest possible production—coin being the unerring standard—is the great end of human effort; and he who is outstripped in the headlong race is doomed to ruin and starvation by the law of envious strife and depressing competition, which they blasphemously represent as the order of Providence! These are the views put forth by the Political Economists enthroned in our Colleges and Senates, as liberal and enlightened!—at least, these are the inevitable results from those views. It was needed that the specious fallacies put torth by these teachers should be scrutinized and confuted, and this has been done in a masterly manner by confuted, and this has been done in a masterly manner by Mr. Atkinson. As an elementary treatise on Political Econ-ony—as a refutation of the doctrines of "Free Trade" theoonly—as a resultation of the doctrines of Pree Treas their risk—nothing equal to his work has ever appeared on either side of the Atlantic. To the foreads of American Industry, therefore, and to all who regard the trade, the skill or experience of the Working Manas his Property, his means of livesecure and sustain him precisely as it does the possessor of other Property—that is, until and nuless some overriling public necessity or manifest public advantages demand a contrary course—to all who would give stability, permanence, activity and prosperity to the great Industrial Interests of the Country, we heartly commend this work, trusting that they will aid us to secure for it a wide and general perusal. ATRINSON'S PRINCIPLES OF POLITICAL ECONOMY will be published in a large and close but neatly printed octa-vo, of about 100 pages, and sold at 25 cents a copy, 5 copies for $1, or $16 per hundred. Orders are solicited. GREELEY & McELRATH.

> IMPORTANT SUIT.-Jeremiah Van Rensselaer has brought suit in Equity, before Judges Thompson and Betts, of the United States Circuit Court against the Executors and Devizees of John Watts sively, more successfully commended to the public judgedeceased, to recover possession of the property, consisting of about 75,000 acres of land, formerly known as "Claverack Manor," in this county. The claim is founded on the following facts:

> In the year 1782, John Van Renssalaer, the elder, lord of the lower manor of Rensselaerwick. (usually termed Claverack Manor,) in Columbia County, devised the manor, in trust, for his grandson, John I. Van Rensselaer, who was to have the rents during his life, and then it was to be entailed, forever, on his male heirs. Soon after the making of the will, an act passed, abolishing the principle of entail, and declaring that persons so holding should be considered as possessing a fee simple. In 179s John I. sold the manor for $40,000, and it has since remained in possession of the parties purchasing, or their assigns. No covenant as to the guarantee to the title appears to have been given. Much of the property has since passed into other hands. John Ir died in 1827; and the present action was brought by his eldest surviving son, who now resides in another State, and claims possession of the property on libly marked thereon, and the boxes or packages retained in the ground that John I. had no right to sell it, not possessing a right of fee simple under the act,

Such is the character—such are the contents of the edition of THE LIFE AND SPEECHES OF HENRY CLAY, which the subscribers now offer to the public in two large volumes of 1100 pages, for One Dollar. It will be beautifully printed, on fair, white paper, and neatly put up in flexible covers. It is afforded cheaper than any such work ever was before, because we hope to give it the largest circulation ever attained by any.

To the Friends of Henry Clay—Mighty, glorious host—the lovers of our Country universally—but especially to the various Whig organizations and Clay Clues, do we confidently appeal for aid in our effort to extend the circulation of this work, and reader its perusal, as nearly as may be, not versal. We ask them to do this, not for our sakes, but to advance the Great Cause to which their energies are devoted, and because that Cause can in no way be more peruasively, more successfully commended to the public judgement, the popular heart, than in the lessons of Graveeing Patriotism, the burning Eloquence of Henry Clay.
